MORGAN OFFERED CHANCE TO MAKE AREA BANGS FREE

District Meeting of Livestock Men
Held Here 25th

A District meeting of the Livestock Improvement Association was held at the meeting room in Stamper's Restaurant Feb. 25th with livestock leaders from Morgan and Magoffin counties and Ray Hopper, state secretary, attending the meeting.

Dr. Irving, a veterinarian from the State Department of Agriculture, representing Ben L. State Commissioner of Agriculture, was a special guest. Dr. Irving told the group that Rowan county would be the first county in the state to be free of brucellosis or Bang's free in all cattle herds.

He explained the indemnity program was in effect for all reactors, paying $20.00 above market price for grade animals and $40.00 for registered animals above the market price.

Dr. Irving then offered Morgan County livestock farmers the chance to make Morgan a Brucellosis or Bang's free county. This can be done by signing up 80% of the herds and 75% of the beef cattle and dairy cattle for testing. If this was done he said he would send a veterinarian to the county to remain until the job of testing and then re-testing all infected herds is completed.

He explained that this is the state will work with the county now on a testing program of free tests of all cattle and free vaccination of all heifers.

Dr. Irving explained that he was willing to meet with livestock farmers to explain this program if fifty or sixty livestock farmers representing different communities were interested.

He explained that the way that tuberculosis was entirely eliminated from cattle herds in the state.

Milk companies in the state are using milk ring tests for herds from which they are using milk. County Agent Carl W. Sinclair explained that this testing program would be attempted if livestock farmers and farmers who keep cattle for milk were interested enough to work out a plan to sign up the required number of cattle for the state to send a veterinarian in to stay for 3 or 4 months. Because of the program, which has been carried out in the past in the county the County Agent believes that only from 1% to 1 1/2% of the cattle would show up as reactors.

In the sign-up for testing, steers would not be included, but only breeding animals and milk cows would be tested.

MORE NEW SUBSCRIBERS

Fifty-one new subscribers were received for The Courier during February. The subscription list has been increasing steadily during the past year and the press run is now bigger than ever before. However, newspaper paper is so short that it is being rationed. Each paper gets the same amount it used last year. And this poses a problem for publishers.

YOUNGSTERS IN MORGAN LIKE BIOGRAPHIES

Fifth and sixth graders in Morgan county are fond of biographies. If the books they borrow from the county bookmobile is a proper indication. By and far, Morgan children of this age group read biographies, particularly ones about lives of our presidents and leaders. Mrs. Nancy Turner, bookmobile librarian, says.

And boys in high school prefer books of war, adventure and mystery. "We recently got a new book, 'Enemies Are Human,' and the high school boys beg for it," she said. The boys also read a lot of science fiction. A new book of this type is "Attack on Atlantis," and high school boys are fond of it. They also read books such as Jack London and O. Henry have written, she said.

"We have a shelf on religious subjects and some 15 or 20 boys read this type," Mrs. Turner said. Girls like mysteries and stories on home life.

The bookmobile loans an average of 250 books a day in all county schools. Edwin Lacey is driver of the bookmobile.

"I think Morgan youths are as good judges of reading as anyone I know," Mrs. Turner said.

LUCAS IS STAR CENTER

Jerry Lucas, the six-foot-nine center and outstanding star of the Middletown, Ohio high school basketball team, is the nephew of Lewis McAllister of West Liberty and Morehead. Mr. McAllister went to Middletown last week to see him play. The team has won all of its games this season and Lucas sometimes scores up to 50 points a game.

West Liberty Wins First Prize In City Improvements

JUDGE CONTEST—Twelve Eastern Kentucky communities competed for cash prizes totaling $900 in the community development program, sponsored by the financial institutions of the area and the Kentucky Power Company. Judging the scrapbooks are, left to right, J. C. Zimmerman of Louisville, director of industrial development of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce; Glover Carey of Owensboro, industrial development representative of the Texas Gas Transmission Corp.; and E. B. Kennedy of Frankfort, director of the industrial development division of the Kentucky Department of Economic Development.

Town's Progress Past Year Wins Honor and Cash Award of $150

West Liberty, it was announced this week, is a first-place winner in the 1956 Better Eastern Kentucky Community Development contest, and a check for $150 was presented the contest chairman and committee members Wednesday in recognition of the town's achievements.

Announcement of the contest winners was made by Rufus P. Thomas, Industrial Development Representative for the Kentucky Power Company, sponsor of the contest in Eastern Kentucky. The Commercial Bank of West Liberty was local sponsor.

Winners in group 1, including towns up to 1200 population (the population was based on the 1950 census), were West Liberty first, Worthington second. Winners in group 2, including towns from 1201 to 2,000 population, were Vanceburg first, Grayson second, and Whitesburg third.

Winners in group 3, including towns from 2001 to 10,000 population, were Paintsville first, Hazard second, and Louisville third.

Twelve towns in the Kentucky Power Company territory submitted scrapbooks as entries in the contest. Cash awards of $150, $100 and $50 were given to the first, second and third place winners in each group.

The scrapbooks were judged in the Eastern Kentucky contest and since have been turned over to the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce to be judged in the state-wide contest.

J. C. Zimmerman, director of Industrial Development for the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce and coordinator for the Chamber Community Development program, stated the number of entries in the regional contest is proof that the program is a success. Communities submitting entries that did not win awards included Belfry, Russell, Greenup and Catlettsburg. These towns were presented certificates of recognition.

Many local people had a hand in West Liberty's winning first place in the program. Alvin Evans, Mayor, was general chairman of the project, and his planning committee was composed of Dr. Ralph Gullett, Walter Franklin, Kathleen Blair, Lucille Ruth, Mae Wells and Helen Price Stacy.

Miss Gay Easterling was secretary for the group, and the scrapbook was planned and made by Kathleen Blair and Helen Price Stacy.

Many before and after photographs were used in the scrapbook. These pictures were made

Thomas M. Davis Announces For County Attorney Post

TO THE VOTERS OF MORGAN COUNTY

I take this opportunity to announce my candidacy for the office of County Attorney. I consider the office of County Attorney an important one and expect to make a vigorous campaign. I will make every effort to see as many of you as possible before the primary.

I was born in West Liberty in 1922 and have lived here since that date. I served in Europe in the army during World War II and after returning attended school at Morehead and later received my law degree at the University of Louisville.

I am the son of Walter H. Davis and Lucy M. Wells. My maternal grandparents were John David Wells and Anna Allen Walsh.

My paternal grandparents were Doctor Samuel Davis and Margaret Easterling.

To all the good people of Morgan county, I solicit your vote and influence. I hope you will give me the opportunity to be a good public servant for you.

GREEAR WOMAN IS FOUND DEAD

Miss Myrtle Ferguson, 56, was found dead in her home at Greear Wednesday about noon. He was thought she had been dead about 24 hours. Her dinner was prepared and on the table and some medicine was scattered on the floor indicating that she had started to take the medicine and dropped dead of a heart failure.

Her brother, John Wesley Ferguson of Cincinnati, had left about 8:00 a.m. Tuesday. He is the only immediate survivor.

Funeral services will be held at the Grassy Lick Church at 1:30 p.m. Friday with Rev. Russell Brown officiating. Burial will be in the Grassy Lick Cemetery under direction of Potter Funeral Home.

A.S.C. SCHEDULES SOIL BANK MEETS

The Morgan County ASC committee will hold five meetings next week to explain the soil conservation and acreage reserve (soil bank) program to farmers. All tobacco growers are urged to attend one of these meetings. The schedule for the meetings is—

March 5—Ezel at 9:30 a.m.
March 5—Ferguson's Store at Grassy Creek at 12 noon.
March 5—Cannel City school at 2 p.m.
March 6—Crockett at 10 a.m.
March 6—West Liberty Court House at 2 p.m.

ATTEND DISTRICT MEET

Mrs. Marvin Ruth, district director of Homemakers, Mrs. Dorothy Rose, district publicity chairman, and Mrs. Bessie Halsey county president, attended a meeting in Paintsville Wednesday. The District meeting of Homemakers this year will be held at Paintsville. This meeting was first planned for Pikeville, but due to the flood the town has been in they could not get ready for the meeting. The meeting was held here at the Christian Church last year with the Morgan County Homemakers as host.

NOTICE

The Morgan County Health Department office will be closed the week of March 11-16 while the office personnel attend the Kentucky Public Health Association annual meeting in Louisville.

ASC COMMITTEE ATTENDS STATE TOBACCO MEET

Joe Frank Ferguson of Grassy Creek, chairman of the Morgan County ASC committee; Joe Jenkins, member, and the old Brown office manager, attended a state ASC meeting in Lexington Tuesday and Wednesday and heard federal and state ASC personnel explain the ASC program and the soil bank program.

J. R. Williams, Washington, director of the Tobacco Division of the Commodity Stabilization Service, told some 500 county ASC committeemen and office managers that during the past two years burley disappearance exceeded production and that the outlook for burley is good but not optimistic. He said there is an estimated 1,800,000,000 pounds of burley on hand, or nearly four years supply. This is nearly half a billion pounds above normal.

However, more burley is going into cigarettes now because during the past two years farmers have produced a smoker type.

He advised continuing this type, saying that by using less nitrogen on the ground a lighter leaf is produced. But even most red tobacco in the past two years has been a good smoker type, he said.

Filter tip cigarettes, Williams said, now account for about 30 per cent of the market, and this type cigarette requires a smaller quantity of tobacco. Thus while cigarette production has increased about 3 per cent and may continue to increase, the amount of burley used is not expected to be any greater this year than last year.

Another contributing factor to the predicted decline of use of burley and other tobaccos in cigarettes "is the smaller leaf requirements for all cigarette production because of more complete utilization of levels and scrap."

The Lexington meeting this week was the first state-wide ASC meeting held in Kentucky since 1949.

Paul Cox Now Associated With West Liberty Motor

Paul Cox, who had been operating the Texaco Service Station at the corner of Main and Presburg streets for some time, recently sold the station to John Brooks and Eugene Haney, and is now a partner with Henry L. Slacy in operation of West Liberty Motor Company. Mr. Cox purchased the interest of James F. Turner a few months ago. The Motor Co. recently added the John Deere farm equipment agency to its service.

Gardner Announces for Commonwealth Atty.

In 1951 a majority of the voters of Morgan, Elliott and Carter counties elected me to the office of Commonwealth Attorney. I have attempted to show my deep appreciation by working hard at the job. In fulfilling the duties of the office I have striven to enforce the law vigorously. The citizens of the district are entitled to that effort, the defendant can expect nothing less.

The past 5 years' experience as Commonwealth Attorney has prepared me for more capable service, without blinding me to the fact that those who have violated the law are entitled to proper respect. I have been courteous and considerate to both those interested in the prosecution of cases as well as those on the side of the defense. At the same time there has been a determined effort on my part to carry out all the duties of the office.

At the Kentucky Commonwealth Attorney Association held in Louisville last December, I was elected Secretary-Treasurer of the Association. This honor has caused me to become even more desirous of securing the respect not only of the other Commonwealth Attorneys in the state but also the citizens in the Morgan, Elliott and Carter District.

Believing every voter is interested in knowing as much as possible about a candidate I shall give a brief statement of my activities.

For the past 15 years I have been associated with my father, Walter Gardner, in the practice of law at West Liberty. During this period I have participated in all activities for civic improvement. I have taught a Sunday School class for many years and assisted in the music of church services. As President of the 4-H Council I have been deeply in-

GET POLIO SHOTS

A school bus load of 85 children was brought from Cannel City Monday to the county health office and given polio shots by Mrs. Della Kinner, nurse. There has not been a case of polio in Morgan this past year. The immunization is given free and it is most important that every child have the shots.

BRING PRISONER BACK

Deputy Sheriff Thurman Wright and Cecil Dalton left Friday for Middletown, Ohio, to bring to West Liberty Leonard Belcher, charged with manslaughter. He is being held in the jail at Middletown for the Morgan county officers. Belcher was indicted at the February term of circuit court on charges resulting from a car accident on Wrigley Hill.

CHIEF IN HOSPITAL

Police Chief Jeff Williams was taken to the Baptist Hospital in Lexington Tuesday. It is reported that he will submit to an operation for a cataract on his eye next Saturday.

MRS. HARPER DIES HERE LAST WEEK

Mrs. Queen Esther Harper, 65, at her home of her daughter, Mrs. Opa McKenzie in West Liberty, February 23 after a long illness of multiple sclerosis and complications. She was well known in the county and her home was a gathering place for young people in the community when her children were growing up.

She is survived by her husband, McGarvey Harper of Graybull, Illinois; two sons, Wendall Harper of Robinson, Illinois, and Willard Harper of Pittsburgh, Penna.; two daughters, Mrs. Glennon McKenzie and Mrs. Wilma Gevedon of West Liberty, and six grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted February 26 at the West Liberty Christian church, the Rev. Joe R. Nevius and the Rev. Harlan Murphy officiating. Burial was in West Liberty Cemetery under direction of Potter Funeral Home.

NOTICE TO VETERANS

Roy M. Cain, contact representative for the Kentucky Ex-Servicemen's Board, will be in West Liberty Monday, March 4, at the court house to assist veterans and their dependents in filing claims for benefits which might be due them as a result of military service.

Estimates Revised

The Cave Run dam cost of $13,900,000 is based on revised estimates of 1955. It would be an earthen dam, 120 feet high, and would lie between Bath and Rowan counties.

Such a dam would create a 2,900-acre reservoir with storage capacity of 370,000 acre-feet. The normal pool would extend 24 miles up the main stream of Licking, thus creating a shoreline of perhaps 300 miles along the main river and its numerous tributaries.

Jackson said that such a reservoir would have vast potentials as a recreation area, but that no survey of those potentials had been made. He added that 78 per cent of the proposed shoreline would lie inside the boundaries of Cumberland National Forest.

Counties affected upstream from the dam would be Rowan, Bath, Menifee, Morgan and a small section of Elliott. The drainage area affected would be 825 square miles.

Morgan members of the Cave Run Reservoir Association who attended the Frankfort meeting were Dr. Spencer, Woodrow W. Barber, Alonzo Elam and Tommy Ruth.

Louisa Man Succeeds Brooks At Cut Rate

John C. Meade of Louisa became manager of the West Liberty Cut Rate Market Monday, succeeding John Brooks who resigned after buying the Texaco Filling Station at the corner of Main and Prestonsburg streets here. Meade has been assistant manager of the Louisa Grocery, a branch of the firm that owns the Cut Rate Market here, for 23 years. Merle Allen of West Liberty has succeeded Eugene Haney as butcher at the Cut Rate. Haney is a partner with Brooks in the Texaco station.

WOOL SUBSIDY FOR '57 TO BE SAME AS FOR '56

The Kentucky ASC has announced that the government subsidy on wool prices will be the same for 1957 as for last year. The 1957 program will apply to wool and lambs marketed during April 1 to March 1 of next year. The short wool incentive price for 1957 marketing year will be 62c a pound. This is the same as last year. The incentive payment rate will be the percentage required to bring the average price all producers receive for their clip up to the 62c level.

STATE TO BACK LICKING RIVER CAVE RUN DAM

Reservoir Assn. Gets Chandler's O.K. On Project

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 21—The Chandler Administration today added official State support to efforts of residents of the upper valley of Licking River to obtain federal revival of plans to build a $13,900,000 dam at Cave Run, eight miles west of Morehead.

After hearing a delegation from Cave Run Reservoir Association, Governor Chandler drafted a request to Congress and the Army Corps of Engineers to survey the situation and start planning the dam as soon as possible.

Jackson Seeks Request

He was joined in this official request by Laban F. Jackson, commissioner of conservation. Cost of planning the dam is estimated at 50,000, which, it is hoped, Congress will appropriate.

The delegation was headed by Dr. Alec Spencer, West Liberty, president of the association.

Primary objectives of the dam would be flood control, storage of water for industrial use, and general conservation.

This project has been on the planning boards since 1946. The original survey of the Army Engineers included a high dam across tributaries, five smaller dams down the river, and an upper dam at Cave Run.

Project Became Dormant

Opposition arose, however, from residents of Fleming and Braeken counties who claimed they would be adversely affected by the Falmouth dam. This opposition prevailed, and the entire Licking River Project became dormant.

The revival of current interest is in the Cave Run dam only. Proponents claim that 90 per cent of the valley residents above Cave Run are for the dam. People below the dam—in Fleming and Braeken—cannot possibly object, they say, because it would protect them from floods, but would not cover their river-valley farms.

While the pool would force a few farmhouses to be abandoned, proponents said it would not cover a highway, railroad, village, or town.

Estimates Revised

The Cave Run dam cost of $13,900,000 is based on revised estimates of 1955. It would be an earthen dam, 120 feet high, and would lie between Bath and Rowan counties.

Counties affected upstream from the dam would be Rowan, Bath, Menifee, Morgan and a small section of Elliott. The drainage area affected would be 825 square miles.

SANDY HOOK TO GET SURVEY FOR WATER SYSTEM

Sandy Hook's water works commissioners meeting here last Wednesday with C. E. Kenney of the Kenney Engineering Company of Lexington, authorized Kenney to make a preliminary survey as the first phase of a program that may result in the building of a town water system for Sandy Hook.

The conference was held in the office of Atty. William Redwine, one of the commissioners appointed by the Elliott Fiscal Court. R. W. Thompson and Marion Mason are the other members of the commission.

Mr. Kenney proposed a financing and construction program in three phases.

The local commissioners authorized his firm to start the first phase, which will include a preliminary survey as to the sources of water, the number of probable customers, the approximate cost of the system and the approximate rate to charge customers.

The commissioners also agreed with Mr. Kenney on the type of contract that will be presented to subscribers.

Discussed also was the method of raising the local community's 15% of cost. It is believed that the federal government will purchase long term bonds covering the other 85% of cost.

Mr. Kenney will return to Sandy Hook for a second meeting with local commissioners on March 6.

EZEL ROCKETS END SEASON WITH WIN

The Ezel High School's basketball team ended its regular season Friday night with a win over Salyersville. The Rockets, with assistant coach Ben Dunn, in charge, came from behind to score 22 points in the last quarter and outlast the Hornets 70-65.

This was sweet revenge since Salyersville had beaten the Rockets at Ezel in January by a 75-67 count.

High point man for Ezel and with 35 follows by Hollie Pieratt and James Pieratt with 12 each. High man for Salyersville was Spurlock with 22.

This win put the Rockets over the 500 mark with 11 wins and 10 losses. A bright future may be expected for the Ezel team since only one senior is on the entire squad. Other members include two juniors, three sophomores and five freshmen.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Burton of Dayton and daughter, Mrs. James Caudill and 10-weeks old daughter Carol Jean, spent the week end in Morgan county with relatives.

Easter Seal Drive Chairman Named In Elliott County

William R. Redwine of Sandy Hook has been named chairman of the 1957 Easter Seal appeal for crippled children in Elliott, O. I. McElroy, Eminence, state chairman for the sponsoring Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, announced the appointment.

The month-long drive opens March 21. A week later, Easter Seals will be mailed to 400,000 Kentuckians with letters asking for contributions to expand the work of the Kentucky Society.

Easter Seal funds last year financed medical and hospital care, special schooling, therapy, equipment such as braces and crutches, and hearing services for 2,600 children. The 1956 program cost the Kentucky Society $267,787—of which $27,402 was raised by the Easter Seal sale.

McElroy said there are an estimated 18,000 children in the state with physical handicaps that have been caused by diseases, accidents, birth injuries, deformities, and serious hearing loss. More are born crippled and are disabled by disease and accidents.

"If we had more funds to work with, we could aid many more of these youngsters," McElroy commented, "because we have an extremely broad program."

He said no other state-wide voluntary health agency has such a varied program of care and training, and no other works with crippled children by so many causes.

Group Told "Vast Opportunities" To Advance Incomes

Kentucky farmers have depended long on tobacco as a primary source of income, Ben J. Butler, Kentucky commissioner of agriculture, said in an address at the meat-animal section of Farm and Home Week at the University of Kentucky.

Butler declared that there are "immediate and vast" opportunities in Kentucky to advance farm income.

"In the future, we must take on new enterprises or expand current ones," he said. "Enterprises in the expansion category are beef, sheep and swine, and also dairy and poultry."

Butler emphasized several factors for profitable enterprises. They were quality products, efficient production, improved breeds, effective care and management, and efficient marketing programs.

He noted, also that population increases would help the beef industry; that per capita food consumption is up; that Kentucky is in a geographical area where in the few years has upped its number of beef animals six per cent. He also noted the south was beginning to diversify its agriculture more and west and north to market meat.

Butler said the state has made great strides in improving its production efficiency.

One such field was in dairying where the state upped its per cow milk production average to about 2,000 pounds in a 25-year period.

PRIMARY MAY 28; POLITICAL POLICY OF COURIER TOLD

With the primary elections less than three months away, interest is increasing in the races for district and county party nominations.

The primary now comes in May instead of August. Primary date this year is May 28. Thus it is less than three months away.

Even with the primary that close, only a few candidates have announced in Morgan thus far.

No doubt many candidates will announce within the next few weeks. Last day for filing as a candidate for county office is 45 days before the primary, or April 13.

In connection with the approaching contests, The Courier announces its clear-cut policy concerning political advertising, pointing out that local races often result in unelected for state-ments. The policy of The Courier is—

(1) No advertising will be accepted that is unnecessarily bitter or unfair, or dealing with personalities instead of issues.

(2) All advertising must be paid for in advance.

(3) Rates for announcements will be: District and county offices like commonwealth's attorney and county judge, etc. $25. Minor county offices like magistrate $10. These announcements are to run each week until the primary, and to the November election for those who win party nominations.

(4) Rates for political advertising (readers) will be 75¢ per column inch for inside pages and 1½ times that rate for front page, or $1.12 per column inch.

The Courier plans to treat all candidates fairly and abide by the policies stated above.

Boggs Named To Aid In Rural Development

O. E. Boggs has resigned his post as Floyd County agricultural agent to become area agent in Rural Development, and his assistant, Robert M. Jones, has been named to succeed him as head of the Floyd agricultural work.

Mr. Boggs, who has been county agent there since April 15, 1955, assumed his new duties Friday, February 8.

The Rural Development program which Boggs will work with in the Ashland area, a section which includes 12 counties, is a new work and is in the nature of a pilot program at this time. Agricultural, industrial, sociological and educational in scope, it envisions the marshaling of private groups, local leaders and governmental agencies for the development of rural communities.

Counties in Mr. Boggs' area are Johnson, Martin, Magoffin, Morgan, Wolfe, Lawrence, Elliott, Rowan, Greenup, Carter, Boyd and Lewis.

The new Rural Development area agent is himself a native of Lawrence, one of the counties he will serve. He was graduated from the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, in 1952, and before serving in Floyd as county agent was assistant agent in Morgan, Magoffin and Pike counties.

Dairy Problems and Forage Production Will Be Discussed

H. H. PIERCE

GARLAND BOSTON

Dairy cow feeding and management and forage for 1957 will be discussed at a county-wide meeting at the R.E.A. building in West Liberty on March 6 at 10:00 o'clock when two authorities from the UK Agricultural Extension Service will visit Morgan county.

H. H. Pierce, pasture specialist, and Garland Boston, dairy specialist, will be the speakers, said County Agent Carl Sinclair.

Dairymen, farmers and others are invited to attend this important meeting, he said.

Pierce will discuss practices necessary for high production per acre of forage, including fertilization, varieties, and cultural practices.

Boston will talk about feeding recommendations, weigh-a-month testing, mastitis control, and other management practices essential to profitable dairying in Morgan county.

Soil Conservation District News

By Berlyn Brown

A training meeting on the engineering phases of irrigation was held at the R.E.A. Building in West Liberty Thursday, Feb. 28. In charge of the one-day session were Keith H. Beauchamp of the Engineering and Watershed planning Unit SCS, Milwaukee, Wis.; John M. Burns, State Conservation Engineer, SCS, Lexington, Ky.; and H. D. McMurry, Area Engineer, SCS, Somerset, Ky. Others attending the meeting were Jack A. Jones, Area Conservationist, SCS, Ashland, Ky., and the Soil Conservation Service personnel from the 14 counties in area 7, namely, Boyd, Carter, Elliott, Floyd, Greenup, Johnson, Lawrence, Lewis, Magoffin, Martin, Menifee, Morgan, Pike and Rowan and H. D. Bradley, Area Conservationist, SCS, Hazard, Ky., and SCS personnel in the 12 counties comprising Area 8—Breathitt, Clay, Estill, Jackson, Knott, Lee, Leslie, Letcher, Owsley, Perry, Powell and Wolfe.

Requests for help in developing soil and water conservation plans have been received from eleven farmers in the county this month. The 11 farmers signing farmer-district cooperative agreements were: McKinley Fields, Yocum; Denzil Helton, Ezel; Gaston Howard and Thomas J. Stanley, Wrigley; Aida Stevens, Elkfork; Glen Clevenger, Pomp; Chester Elam, Insko; C. C. Smith, Jephtha; Talmadge Nickell, Payton; Noah Pelfrey, Matthew and Curtis Stamper, Maytown.

Orders for 112,000 trees have been placed by 30 farmers in Morgan county.

SHEEP INDUSTRY
Kentucky's sheep industry is holding a week of tours, open houses and broadcasts May 6-11, and one of these will be a four-county tour of mountain sheep flocks and an afternoon meeting in Lawrence county plus a TV telecast from Huntington. The four-county mountain tour will include Morgan, where several farmers have started sheep flocks the past few years.

NOTE ON THE FLOOD
Many interesting, and tragic, stories have come out of those areas which were under several feet of water in the recent floods. The flood was not exactly a flash flood, but as one man put it, "We had seen the river reach a certain high mark many times. We had no idea the river would rise many feet above previous water marks, and, of course, when we realized what was happening it was too late."

The home of Nell and Craig Field (Nell is the former Nell Burton of Stacy Fork) was in several feet of water. In a desperate attempt to save some valuable antique furniture, the Fields stacked the pieces on top of less valuable furnishings, hoping to keep them above water. Water, however, finally covered most all they had, ruining furnishings, especially veneered pieces, and split some of the solid cherry and mahogany chairs, tables, etc. A cashmere coat belonging to Nell was hastily wadded into a ball and pitched atop some furniture in a high corner and was saved.

Another young couple completely wiped out in the flood was Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McCoy. McCoy's mother is Truda McCoy, poet and artist, who has visited in West Liberty often. She writes that her son had bought a home nine miles below Pikeville near Mullins school and had put everything he had in it. They had recently painted inside and out and made preparations for a baby that is expected the last of March. "The water just picked up the house and carried everything away," writes Truda. He owes around $8,000 now and not a thing to show for it.

It would be nice if the young couple expecting the baby could be sent articles for a layette, since everything they had—furniture, clothing and baby things—was completely destroyed. We feel sure that articles sent to Mrs. Truda McCoy, Route 1, Pikeville, will be gratefully received and passed on to the young couple.

Morgan Man Writes Play To Be Given at KEA in Louisville

John D. Engle of Cincinnati, a native of the Pleasant Run section of Morgan county and well known as a writer and poet, is author of a play, "The Opening Door," which will be presented in Louisville at the meeting of the Kentucky Education Association in April.

Theme of the play is reflected in the title and is stated in these words spoken by one of the leading characters: "The forces of ignorance are always at war with the idea of enlightenment. But nothing is gained without a struggle. Education is like a giant door that opens only when everyone is pushing against it. Even then it opens very slowly. I have to keep reminding myself that the door won't open in my lifetime, maybe not in two or three lifetimes. One thing is certain. It will never open of its own accord. Right now we have a foot in the door, but ignorance is pushing just as hard on the other side."

Since 1957 will mark the hundredth year of KEA, officials of the organization felt that a Centennial play would be appropriate during the convention which will take place at Louisville in April. Mr. and Mrs. Engle plan to attend the performance April 11.

The Engles recently moved from Lexington to Cincinnati, where Mr. Engle teaches school.

Being steeped in the love, lore and legend of the hills around Pleasant Run, Mr. Engle knew what he wanted when he and his wife Anita started looking for a house in Cincinnati.

"When we first saw the house we bought, it was hard to believe our eyes," he said. "The place is completely surrounded by trees. The lot is more than an acre in size, and there are no houses adjoining the property; there are only more trees. In the back of the house is a creek almost as large as Pleasant Run, and across the creek is a hill with nothing but trees on it. There's a beech tree right beside the driveway that must be five feet in diameter. . . . The rail fence that runs along the lot near the road has vines roses beside it for at least fifty feet. . . . It is a white frame house built on a split level with two floor furnaces and an open fireplace on each level."

The Engles' new home is located at 1340 Fuhrman Road, Cincinnati 15, Ohio.

A number of Morgan county friends, relatives and teachers are making plans to attend the performance of Engle's play in Louisville.

O'REAR WRITES MORE ABOUT EASTERLINGS

The Courier—Interest your deserved tribute to Mr. A. M. (Tony) Easterling, son of Holt Easterling, published in last week's Courier.

I knew Holt. He was a younger brother of Morgan Easterling, whom I also knew well and intimately. Your story seems lacking in respect that most remarkable man, Morgan Easterling, whom I also knew well and intimately. Your story seems lacking in respect that most remarkable man, Morgan Easterling, whom I also knew well and intimately.

The Easterling boys were left orphans at an early age, and far from well-off. Morgan taught school while yet a youth, and by the scant earnings such a job then provided, he made it possible to put Holt further along.

Morgan (whose name was J. Morgan Easterling) was elected county court clerk of Morgan county in 1883. When I was deputy in charge of the Circuit Court Clerk's office (Frank LeMaster was the clerk but was away in Florida for his health) Morgan and I studied law together that winter of 1881-2, by the Circuit Clerk's office. Neither of us had been through high school in fact, neither had ever seen the outside of one.

We felt sufficiently versed to try for our law license. We attended the Magoffin Circuit Court at Salyersville, where we met attorneys Wiley Howes and D. D. Sublett questioned us, and passed us. Approved by Circuit Judge George N. Brown, we were admitted to the bar. That was March 16, 1882.

About a year later Hon. John D. White, member of Congress from that, the old 10th District procured an appointment for Morgan to a clerkship in one of the departments at Washington, D.C., which he took and held for several years. While there he attended Georgetown College and took a course in elocution and speech. He overcame a defect in speech which he was afflicted with. He stammered. His articulation was difficult. Furthermore, his eyes were crossed—a difficulty afterward corrected by surgery I heard. He resigned, went to Kearney, Nebraska, practiced law successfully and was elected a Democrat, Probate Judge for several terms, although that county was overwhelmingly Republican. He was on the ticket headed by Hon. Charles Bryan, brother of the great commoner, William Jennings Bryan. The ticket was defeated, however, at the general state election.

He was a leader and teacher in the Sunday School of the Christian Church. He married there and had a daughter, who also became a successful lawyer. At his death he was financially well-off, and most highly respected in the community.

Morgan Easterling, besides his handicap in speech, was a cripple. Both ankles and both knee joints were afflicted, so that he was compelled to a stooped position and walked with difficulty, crabwise, necessarily using a cane. He had great determination, a great faith, and was a most likable, genial gentleman. I have never met another person, so seriously handicapped physically and financially, who rose so high, and achieved so much.

(McGraw did not resign from his office of County Clerk; but had W. C. Kendall (Pomp) appointed his deputy, who really acted as County Clerk for the remainder of the term.)

Holt came by Frankfort and stopped to see me some twenty years or so ago. He was then a rich, prosperous man in the printing business at Philadelphia. He was devotedly grateful to Morgan, and so expressed himself to me. It was the incentive of Morgan Easterling's companionship, his pluck and determination, his assiduity and example, that inspired me to study law and keep up with him the best I could. I owe him greatly. I honor him and esteem him as a truly great soul.

Very truly yours, Edward C. O'Rear

VISITORS IN FLORIDA Mrs. Harriett Baldwin of Fort Myers, Florida, had as visitors during January her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Cole of Waurika, Oklahoma. Among places of interest they visited in Florida were Edison's Estate, the famous Shell Factory, Ringling Brothers in Sarasota, the Parrot Jungle, Bok Tower, Cypress Gardens, Silver Springs. They spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Gentry in Miami and enjoyed a cruise to the Florida Keys aboard the Gentrys' yacht, The Winalee.

SURPRISE PARTY Mrs. Denzil Wells was hostess at her home in Middletown, O., to a surprise birthday party given in honor of her mother, Mrs. Claude Montgomery of Ezel, who is in Ohio to consult a physician.

Those present were Jenny Poling, Lizzie Wright, Mae Montgomery, Lee Myers, Ethel Wells, Eva Spencer, Nettie Helton, Lillie Carmichael, Mary Helton, Ida Lewis, Cherie Link, Josie Howard, Mildred Graham, Juanita Montgomery, Mildred Walker, Sharon Montgomery, Daisy and Claudia Reed, Gertrude Geary, and Rhoda Sexton. Many others sent gifts and cards who were unable to attend.

Mrs. Montgomery's son called from California to wish her a happy birthday. Games were enjoyed, as were delicious refreshments.

Lawson-Adkins Vows Planned For June 7th

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lawson of Franklin, Ohio are announcing the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their eldest daughter, Dolores Darlene, to Hershel Adkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Adkins of West Liberty. Mr. Adkins is an employee of Armo in Middletown, Ohio. The couple plan a June 7 wedding.

Miss Carolyn Gabbard, Mr. Gevedon To Wed

Miss Elizabeth Carolyn Gabbard daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Gabbard of West Liberty, has completed plans for her wedding to Mr. Millard Lee Gevedon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tenny Gevedon of Stacy Fork.

The marriage will take place Sunday, March 3 at two o'clock in the afternoon at the home of the bride's uncle, Rev. and Mrs. Joe Bleivins at Grassy Creek. Rev. Bleivins will officiate at the ceremony.

Mrs. Paul Stammer, cousin of the bride-elect, will be matron of honor, and Mr. Stammer will be best man.

The bride-elect is a graduate of M.C.H.S. with the class of 1955 and attended Asbury College at Wilmore for one and a half years. She is a talented singer and is active in church affairs in her community.

Mr. Gevedon completed high school while in the U. S. Army in which he served three years. He was in Germany for 13 months. He has been associated with the A & P Company in Cincinnati for the past six years.

The couple plans to reside in Cincinnati.

Homemakers Make Hats By Hundreds

Morgan County Homemakers are making hats by the hundreds. At the Training School Friday, leaders from nineteen homemakers clubs reported over 330 hats were soon to be under construction. When Easter arrives much effort will be saved by the women in bonnet hunting. They too should save the man of the house extra money the churches and seed people can get as a result of the energetic housewife technique in making her own hats.

Mrs. Evelyn Sinclair, Home Agent, thinks this is just the beginning of the project but the women will go from here and will make hats for years to come.

CORRECTION In a recent Courier it was stated that Bruce Williams was the grandson of Capt. John T. Williams. This was an error. He was the grandson of Anderson Williams and his father was Wall Williams.

GRAND JURY ADJOURNS The Morgan grand jury adjourned this week. Twenty indictments were made, seventeen of these were felonies. Circuit Court will adjourn Saturday according to Major Gardner, commonwealth attorney.

YOCUM

ENGLES TO MOVE INTO NEW HOME

YOCUM, Ky., Feb. 25—(By Cassie Lewis)—Your reporter received a letter last week from her brother, John D. Engle, Jr., of Cincinnati, giving an interesting account of his home he recently purchased there. He says the lot is more than an acre in size and is completely surrounded by trees.

There are no houses adjoining the property. In back of the house there is a creek and across the creek is a hill with nothing but trees on it. The rail fence that runs along the lot near the road has vines roses beside it for at least fifty feet and many other kinds of flowers planted along the driveway. The house is a white frame house, full basement, with seven rooms in all. Besides the furnace it also has two fireplaces. J. D. says they will be moving to their new home March 2nd. He also says they are going to Louisville April 11 to see the K.E.A. play he has written. In spite of a very busy schedule in his class rooms he still finds time to write a poem now and then, and has sold several the past year. His new address is 1340 Fuhrman Road, Cincinnati 15, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fields of Ohio visited here Sunday with McKinnel Fields and family.

Mrs. Bell Perry of Pamp is visiting here with her son, Woodrow Perry and family.

Carl Fraley took Mrs. Opal Pieratt and Franklin Quicksall to Dayton and Middletown last week to visit relatives. Mrs. Pieratt also had a physical checkup while there.

Uncle George Fugett has been returned from the hospital and improving nicely.

Mrs. Lenna Fannin of Yocum has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Ratliff at Wrigley.

Elmer Lewis, Omer Lewis, Alvin Morgan and Leslie Morgan all of Yocum are serving on the jury this February term of Circuit Court.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Morgan were Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan of Ashland and Mrs. Lania Whitt of Wrigley.

Here's how to lay water pipes between farm buildings so they need never be dug up: Lay a 4-inch line of cemented-joint sewer pipe or composition asphalt pipe in the trench and simply push the water pipe through it so it can be removed for repairs. In case of freezes, hot air can be blown through the jacket pipe for thawing.

Our sympathy is extended to the bereaved families of Mrs. Maggie Osborne, Mrs. Rachel Hatfield and Monroe Gevedon.

Mrs. Steele Smith of Hazel Green and Mr. and Mrs. John Cox of Stanton were guests of the writer and family Sunday, also Mrs. Noia Gevedon.

FARM LAND VALUES
The annual outlook report of the UK Experiment Station makes the following comments on land prices: "Farm land values in Kentucky will remain about the same or increase slightly in 1957 in spite of higher interest rates, machinery costs, wages and taxes, assuming that prices of farm products and farm incomes increase slightly. Over a period of years farm land values will tend to follow, usually with a lag of six to 12 months, changes in net farm incomes to farm owners. However income from other sources will help maintain or increase rates, real estate taxes and other costs directly associated with farm land will tend to adversely affect farm land values."

KILLED IN CRASH

James C. Barker, 33, was killed Feb. 12 when a refrigerator truck he was driving for Mack Brothers crashed into a bridge abutment on U.S. 460 about two miles west of Oakdale.

State police said an air leak apparently rendered the brakes useless on the heavy truck as it zoomed down the mountain.

His body was pinned in the crushed cab beneath the heavily laden meat truck.

Barker was the son of T. E. Barker of Bruin, who survives, along with two brothers, Tommy and Ray. He and his family lived in Springfield, Ohio.

Funeral and burial were in Springfield.

New Statistics Show Destruction Cost of Eastern Kentucky Flood

Houses: Destroyed, 426 . . . major damage, 1,046 . . . minor damage, 843 . . . insured, none; presently you can't get flood insurance on your house.

These grim statistics reflect an inkling of multi-million-dollar losses heaped by late January floods along the Cumberland, Big Sandy and Kentucky rivers in Eastern Kentucky.

There's the human side, too: Killed, 12 . . . major injuries, 54 . . . minor injuries, 476 . . . hospitalized, 45.

There's no longer an emergency need for clothes, medicine, food or shelter.

6,000 Kentucky Families

The task is cleaning up and rehabilitating 6,000-odd Kentucky families.

Rep. Carl Perkins, whose district covers much of the flood country said he had appealed to President Eisenhower for emergency aid to restore the economy in the territory.

Perkins told the President that various governmental agencies have enough funds to make rehabilitation loans.

But such loans are not available to families and businesses left without sufficient assets to use as security, he said.

"My personal observation after a tour of the flooded areas has convinced me," he wrote the

Persident, "that many small firms are completely wiped out and cannot continue to operate unless direct aid is available at an early date."

May Obtain Loans Later

"After they become re-established, they may be able to qualify for loans, but unless the economy is quickly restored they will be unable to continue operations long enough to qualify for loans," he said.

The American Red Cross has allocated $2,500,000 for direct grants to eligible individuals and small businesses in the flood zone. And the President has set aside $500,000 from his emergency funds for that purpose.

This aid will help many families and small businesses survive, Perkins said.

"But no less than $50,000,000 of unsecured direct outside help, including that from all Government agencies and the Red Cross, will be necessary to restore the economy to even a minimum operating basis," he added.

The congressman said he was hopeful that the President "may be able to provide substantial additional funds under the emergency powers for a real rehabilitation program."

Perkins said that the long-range flood problems of the Eastern Kentucky area can be met only by a system of flood-control reservoirs on the Big Sandy, Cumberland and Kentucky rivers.

"The immediate problem is in emergency aid that will restore the economy, along with getting the reservoirs under construction at an early date," he wrote.

Perkins said that if the President's emergency funds are not sufficient to make additional direct aid available, Congress would "readily make an emergency appropriation any time you deem it necessary to make such a request."

RESCUE EFFORTS IN FIRE FATAL TO MOTHER OF SIX

MOREHEAD, Ky., Feb. 25—A 38-year-old mother, six died at Clearfield yesterday while searching her burning home for some of her children. They had already escaped.

Mrs. Hazel Marie Carpenter was burned to death in a fire that destroyed the Carpenter combination store and home and two neighboring frame houses. Sixteen persons were left homeless.

One of Mrs. Carpenter's children, a 10-year-old boy, was rescued by the fire department. The other five children were taken to the hospital, and told him about the fire.

Flames spread quickly to neighboring frame houses. Occupying one were Mr. and Mrs. Willie Phillips and their three children. The occupants of the other were Mrs. Millard Blair, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Vada Blair, and two teen-age grandchildren.

Firemen said they believed the fire started in the upstairs section of the Carpenter store-home, but had not determined the cause. No estimate of the damage was given.

Mrs. Carpenter's children ranging in age from 4 to 19, were Scotty, Jimmy, Janet and Geneva Ann Estep, all by a previous marriage, and Ronald and Donald Carpenter.

CARNEAL HOUSE

The Carneal House, built by Thomas D. Carneal of Covington in 1815 in the late Georgian Colonial design had Italian Renaissance detail on the loggia that break the wide front of the structure of the first and second stories. Tradition is that Carneal aided Negroes to escape by giving them asylum in his home and helping them cross the Ohio River in free territory. Eliza, heroine of Uncle Tom's Cabin, is said to have crossed the river this way.

Congressman Reviews Plans For Flood Control Aid In E. Kentucky

Feb. 18—This is a special report to the people of the flooded areas. My purpose is to let you know what is being done up here (that is of special interest to the people of Kentucky, and especially to you, the people of this district).

I have a good deal of material for this report, but unfortunately, it's the sort of material I hope we don't have much cause to deal with in the future. I want to talk to you about some of the ways that the Congress has provided for the sort of disaster that struck our area.

But first let me say something about the wonderful job the Red Cross has been doing and still is doing. During the height of the disaster the Red Cross was feeding and sheltering some ten thousand people. Right now they are processing applications for direct grants from over 7500 people who have had their homes and property wiped away by the floods. Thousands have no means to rehabilitate themselves. Grants, and not loans, are being made to these needy people, families, and small business establishments with a limited income. All told, they expect to spend several million dollars in helping out the people who have been hardest hit.

I also want to congratulate the many good people of the surrounding areas, people who were by the floods but pitched in to help out those who were.

The suffering and hardship brought on by these floods has been immense. Fortunately, the Congress has passed a series of laws authorizing federal emergency assistance to state and local government; if the executive branch of the government takes full advantage of the authority given to it by Congress, a great deal can be done to ease the hardship of those hit by the flood and to speed the rehabilitation of the whole area.

Back in 1950, during my first term in Congress, we passed Public Law 875: A Law which provides and authorizes the President of the United States to provide an integrated program of aid to state and local governments in the event of a major disaster. The purpose of the law is to provide relief to the victims of major disasters, to repair essential public facilities . . . to foster the development of state and local organizations and plans to cope with future disasters. The following year, 1951, we expanded that Law to allow the Federal Government to provide emergency food and shelter to stricken families.

Under these laws, the authority is given to the President, who issued an Executive Order in January 1953, which turned the handling of these programs over to the Federal Civil Defense Administration. Now here are some of the things the Congress has authorized the FCDA to do:

1. Direct any Federal Agency to use its resources to come to the aid of the disaster area.
2. Order the distribution of food, either through the Red Cross, or through the use of government personnel.
3. Make contributions to state and local governments to help finance their disaster programs.
4. Arrange for temporary housing for the stricken area.
5. Arrange for emergency repair of damaged public property, roads, bridges, etc.

These are just a few of the things which the executive branch of the government can do under the authority granted it by Congress. To finance these activities, Congress has created the President's Emergency Fund, a multi-million dollar fund to be held in reserve for use in such emergencies as struck Eastern Kentucky. During the present fiscal year the Budget Bureau estimates that more than $18 million will be spent for relief of such emergencies. In addition to this there are a number of other funds which Congress has specified may be used to meet natural disasters.

Here are some of the governmental agencies that have special disaster funds:

The BUREAU OF PUBLIC ROADS, under the Federal Highway Act of 1952, is authorized to provide, on a matching basis, funds for reconstruction of Federal Aid Highways and bridges hit by the flood. Approximately $28 million is available for this purpose.

The SMALL BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION, created by an Act of Congress in 1952, is in charge of the special disaster loan program. All told, Congress has authorized a fund of $125 million for this purpose, of which $50 million is immediately available to the agency. Last year this agency approved over $6 million in loans to victims of the California floods, and over $20 million to the victims of the New England hurricane in 1955.

The DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, acting under Public Law 875, which I described earlier in this report, has turned over a two-week supply of livestock feed to the state of Kentucky. I have requested this agency to make feed available as long as the emergency exists. Their emergency fund for disaster purposes runs into the millions, separate from the surplus food available.

The ARMY CORPS OF ENGINEERS, also acting under Public Law 875, is undertaking emergency repairs of roads, bridges, and other public facilities in the disaster area. The Corps of Engineers can direct assistance in three ways:

1. Performing work essential for the preservation of life and property.
2. Clearing and removal of debris and wreckage.
3. Emergency repair and temporary restoration of public facilities, such as bridges, water and sewage facilities.

The Corps of Engineers, under authority for operation and the maintenance have flood control funds available for rescue work, repair, restoration, or maintenance of flood control projects threatened or destroyed by flood. (P.L. 99, 84th Cong., 1st Session.)

These agencies I've described, are just some of the weapons that Congress has put into the hands of the executive branch so that major disasters can be dealt with quickly and effectively. Along with the rest of the Kentucky delegation, I am keeping in constant touch with these agencies to make sure that everything that can be done is done. I feel confident that the Congress will respond to any request of the executive branch if any authority is lacking anywhere along the line.

Next week I will further discuss Public Law 875, 81st Congress, and the status of surveys being conducted by the Army Engineers on the rivers involved.

Points On How To Prepare New Lawn

A new lawn should be properly graded to provide good drainage, the soil prepared to a depth of at least four inches and worked until it is in very good condition, free from clods, etc. Clods not only prevent seeds from getting up after germination but it ties up a portion of plant food that would otherwise be available for the young plants.

A soil test should be made to determine the amount of lime, phosphorus and potash needed. If any of these materials are needed they should be worked into the top two or three inches of soil. Remember the soil test results are only as good as the sample taken.

After the lime and fertilizer have been applied and worked into the soil, the lawn is ready for the first seed. Should the lawn be ready for seeding at any time except the first part of September, it is recommended by N. R. Elliott of the University of Kentucky, quick-growing cover crops should be sown to provide for the cover and prevent erosion. Two plants that are recommended for this are annual ryegrass and Redtop. Both of these provide a good ground cover and may be clipped just like a bluegrass sod.

Seeding rate of ryegrass is 2½ to 3 pounds to each 1000 square feet. For redtop 2-3 ounces for each 1000 square feet. It may be necessary to mix the redtop seed with sand to distribute evenly.

About the middle of September the seeding of Kentucky bluegrass should be made at the rate of one pound per 1000 square feet. The lawn should be clipped just before sowing. If clippings are heavy they should be removed. Raking should not be done to loosen the soil. The very best bluegrass seed should be used—a good seed should weigh at least 12 pounds per bushel and have an 85 percent germination test or better.

In November the new lawn should be fed using 15 pounds of a good high grade fertilizer per 1000 square feet surface. If straw is available for mulching one average size bale per 1000 square feet surface being applied just after the bluegrass has been seeded.

By March 15, another application of fertilizer should be used. Clipping should begin when the grass is four to five inches high but set mower to cut at least two inches high.

If White Dutch clover is desired in the lawn, it should be sown the last of March at the rate of about two ounces per 1000 square feet surface. However, this plant is native to Kentucky and many people need not bother to sow it.

FIRE DESTROYS COURT HOUSE IN MAGOFFIN CO.

SALYERSVILLE, Ky., Feb. 22—Fire early today destroyed the 64-year old Magoffin County Courthouse here. It was the second fire in the structure in four days.

Only the walls of the building were left standing. Sheriff Noah Rudd said neither blaze was explained.

Fire Tuesday

Flames Tuesday night, originating in the county attorney's office caused considerable damage and since then, Rudd said, electricity and gas had been cut off pending repairs.

The sheriff said the blaze today about 2:30 a. m., was first noted in the circuit clerk's office beneath the county attorney's quarters.

Before volunteer firemen could reach the scene, on Salyersville's main street, the flames were out of control.

One truck and crew from Paintsville, 18 miles away, answered a call for help, but the roof was falling in by the time they arrived.

Some Records Saved

Rudd said "some" records were saved from the county clerk's, circuit clerk's and his own offices, but that many others were lost.

Most of Salyersville's population of about 1,200, many of them with overcoats over night clothes witnessed the blaze.

The question of finding space for offices to continue county business became an immediate problem.

The county jail, in a structure about 25 yards away from the courthouse, was not endangered.

MORGAN WOMAN DIES IN ASHLAND

Mrs. Armilda Jane Carter died at the home of her son, Matt Carter in Ashland, Feb. 24. She was the widow of Robert Carter of Blair Mills.

Funeral was held Feb. 26 at the Oak Hill church with Rev. M. B. Whit and Rev. W. H. Wells officiating. Burial was in the Perry cemetery at Oak Hill.

Her son is the only survivor.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Benton and children, Netto Jo and Melvin of Dayton, Ohio came Friday and spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Benton at Caney.

TRIES TO FIND RELATIVES

David Marvin Russell of White Oak, shown above, wishes to locate his aunt on his mother's side. His mother's maiden name was Della Johnston. Her first marriage was to Ernest Russell and she now is married to Henry Phillips. Russell would like to find out where Ernest Russell, now is. Also he would like to know the whereabouts of his brothers. He asks anyone who knows any of the above to please notify him. His name and address: David Marvin Russell, White Oak, Ky.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of a loving mother, Mrs. Artie Perry Gevedon. Another year has come and gone and a precious mother from earth has flown, while we tread on through heat and cold. We too are growing old. It won't be long, Mother dear, until we meet you. We have no fear. We miss you so as the years go by. Still we know you have a better home in the sweet by and by.

So many, many have this loss. Lord make us willing to bear our cross; and as we go from place to place, let us remember our Mother's grace. Now while we are across the miles we can still see her sweet smiles and think of her loving care. Then we have to kneel to God in prayer. He lifts the burden from our heart and gives us knowledge that we all must part.

—A loving daughter, Mrs. R. V. McClure.

IN MEMORIAM

So sorry to hear of the sudden death of Bro. Andy Crase. Andy and I were close friends and he preached the gospel over Breathitt, Magoffin, Knott and Morgan. He and Bro. Bud Keith baptized Rattie and me the year of 1914 and we preached funerals and baptisms for many years. He was a converted Christian people. He will be missed by his family. I feel like his earthly loss will be heaven's gain. I feel that he fought the good fight and he kept the faith and he proved himself to be a crown for him up in heaven. I feel like I will meet him in that city of God that is not made with hand, that is eternal in heaven. Our sympathy goes to his wife and family.—Rev. J. T. Mann, Korea, Ky.

ELLIOTT'S 1955

BURLEY INCOME

OVER A MILLION

Elliott county farmers sold more than one million dollars worth of burley tobacco from last year's crop.

Elliott's cash income from the 1956 crop was $1,067,127, according to final marketing figures released this week by the county ASC office.

The ASC marketing figures show that 1,228 Elliott farmers sold a total of 1,581,577 pounds from 971.71 measured acres for an average of $63.67 per hundred weight.

This compares to a production of $1,678,156 per acre in 1955 harvested from 972.92 acres which sold for a total of $1,012,521.07 or an average of $61.51 a hundred.

Production last year was 91,579 pounds under the 1955 crop and cash income was $5,291.90 under the 1955 crop. Acres harvested was 128 acres less than in 1955. Price was up $3.16 per hundred-weight however.

The Truth About Polio And Salk Vaccine Is Noted

The medical profession of Kentucky is deeply concerned about the failure of many Kentucky families to take advantage of the Protection Against Paralytic Polio afforded by the Salk vaccine.

The alarming possibility that many persons in our state and nation may be needlessly killed or crippled by polio during the coming polio season is a real one—Despite The Fact That Vaccine is Available and Effective. Reports indicate that a large part of our population has received no vaccination against this disease. Many more have not completed the entire series of three vaccinations.

It is important that this situation be corrected—especially among persons most susceptible to polio.

The crippling or killing of a child by paralytic polio is a catastrophe we all want to avoid, yet there are thousands of Kentucky children who have not been vaccinated—even though an effective vaccine is available.

Young parents are among those most susceptible. The loss of a family's breadwinner or homemaker through death or paralysis can be a serious calamity—yet there are thousands of persons under 40 who have not been vaccinated even though the vaccine is available.

THE FACTS ARE:

1. The Salk vaccine affords major protection against paralytic polio if the entire recommended series of three shots is administered.

2. The Salk vaccine has been demonstrated to be safe.

3. There will always be a possibility of paralytic polio epidemics unless the susceptible people are vaccinated.

4. The susceptible groups include most persons under 40.

For these reasons, the Kentucky State Medical Association recommends that every person under 40 who has not completed the series of three Salk vaccinations do so at once. The urgency of the situation is indicated by the fact that the polio season will begin shortly.

At the same time, this recommendation reach as many people as possible and in recognition of the fact that the polio threat can only be met by a WAKENED PEOPLE, the Kentucky State Medical Association requests all organizations to bring this message to the attention of their memberships.

The vaccine is available; it is safe; it works. It is up to the people whether, in the face of this, we continue to suffer the ravages of polio.

At the same time, the Kentucky State Medical Association feels it must also remind the people that there are other communicable diseases which deserve attention if needless deaths are to be prevented. Look for proven immunization procedures against Whooping Cough, Typhoid, Tetanus, Smallpox and Diphtheria are available. Yet the Kentucky deaths from these causes have always exceeded those from polio.

For this reason it is urged that all families have a "total immunization inventory" at the same time that they are vaccinated against polio.

2 Farm Bureau Leaders On Trip To Capital To Support Two New Laws

Roy Nickell, organization director of Districts No. 9 and No. 10 of the Farm Bureau, and Ezra Bach, president of the Morgan County Farm Bureau, have gone to Washington, D. C. with a group of 19 Kentucky Farm Bureau officers for a three-day (Feb. 28-March 2) visit to the American Farm Bureau Federation where they will confer with Congressmen and Senators regarding two farm bills introduced in Congress. One is for an acreage-purchase program for tobacco and the other is a revision of the corn law. The Kentucky group also will visit the U. S. Department of Agriculture and review agricultural research activities.

The 19 Kentucky Farm Bureau leaders were chosen on the basis of the program of work of their local Farm Bureaus and their contribution toward making it outstanding.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Charles Howard, who passed away four years ago, March 1, 1953—As days go by and time rolls on it seems you're near although you're gone.

Each time we do, each place we go.

We seem to feel your presence so. For treasured thoughts of one so dear.

Often brings a silent tear; Thoughts return to things long past.

Time rolls on, but memories last—Sadly missed by wife and children, Ella Howard.

Elliott Corn Derby Winner Given $250, Watch at Farm-Home Week

Dale Porter Grew 186 Bushels Per Acre in Elliott

Dale Porter of Ault, Elliott county, who won the 1956 Kentucky Corn Derby in the one acre class by producing 186.7 bushels on this acre plot, was awarded $250 by the Broadbent Seed Co. and a $50 wrist watch by the Kentucky Seed Improvement Association at Farm-Home Week in Lexington.

Young Porter was accompanied to Farm-Home Week by Elliott County Agricultural Agent E. D. Rice to receive recognition for his top achievement in the state.

Dale's brother, Jewell Porter, gave him close competition in the State Corn Derby by producing 175 bushels of corn on one acre. Both used 103 variety seed. Dale's acre of land had 19,445 stalks and Jewell's acre had 17,974 stalks.

KIWANIS MEET SET AT WHEELWRIGHT

Ralph B. Carr, Governor of the Kentucky-Tennessee District of Kiwanis International, of Johnson City, Tennessee, will make his first official visit to Kentucky when he appears on the Charter Anniversary Banquet Program of the Beaver Valley Kiwanis Club, at Wheelwright, on Monday, March 4th.

Carr, who has been an active Kiwanian for a number of years, has held numerous District Offices, including District Secretary, Lieutenant Governor of Division Ten and has been Chairman of various District Committees. He is President of Carr Enterprises at Johnson City when installed as Governor of the District. Governor Carr said, "A service club must be for service to the community. There is no other reason for its existence." Mr. Carr will head some 127 service clubs in the two states with nearly 7,000 members.

The Monday evening meeting is also a Ladies Night Celebration and Mrs. Carr is expected to attend with the Governor. All Kiwanis Clubs of Division 7 are invited and are urged to come to the meeting which will be held in the High School Cafeteria in Wheelwright, at 7:30 p.m.

J. Blaine Nickell of the West Liberty club is Lieutenant Governor of District 7 and the members of West Liberty club with their wives are urged to attend.
